

DISPENSING MEDICAMENTS BASED ON RATES OF MEDICAMENT ACTION

5

ABSTRACT

A method of dispensing a medicament. A treatment plan having at least two rates of action for a medicament may be provided. A droplet characteristic corresponding to each rate of action may be selected. Medicament droplets having each droplet characteristic may be ejected into a mucosal tract according to the treatment plan, thereby allowing the medicament to act at two or more rates.

10